

Improving Outcomes for Survivors of Abuse with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

Nora Baladerian, Ph.D.

As a national disability advocate and accomplished author Dr. Baladerian has been instrumental in helping professionals, people with disabilities, and their loved ones understand how trauma and victimization affects people with intellectual disabilities.

Dr. Baladerian is a clinical psychologist with a practice that focuses on trauma and abuse. She also serves as the director of both the West Los Angeles Trauma and Crime Victim Center Project and the Child/Adult Abuse & Neglect Disability Outreach Project/CAN DO! project under Arc Riverside Director, Disability and Abuse Project (since 1991)
